PRESS RELEASE

China is the largest SMT and PCB producer in the world. Now demands for top-quality product, zero defect, zero rework, yield improvement have grown in recent years. Top cleaning performance with static management are the most important features on their equipment check list.

Teknek has been dedicated to solving customer contamination problems for over 30 years. We are challenging ourselves with continuing innovation and development.

Using innovative design combined with new materials, Teknek developed a New SMT 2017 --- a machine which fully complies with ANSI/ESD S20.20 as required by major SMT companies without compromising the efficiency of the cleaning process.

The Teknek SMT cleaning machine has passed independent testing and gained full certification to ANSI/ESD s20.20 2014. This is the first ever contact cleaning to have gained 3rd party approval.

With full confidence, Teknek presents this brand new SMT 2017 cleaning machine to the Chinese market during Shanghai NEPCON 2018.

Whilst Teknek has very high confidence in its products it is with much humility that it has accepted 3 Independent Awards, which have been evaluated and presented by the top Chinese industrial contributors.
